Mark Bocko, Ph.D.

Director, CEIS

William F. May Professor of Engineering

Chair, Department of Sound Arts and Engineering

(585) 275-8092

mark.bocko@rochester.edu

Mark Bocko is the Director of CEIS, with the mission of promoting economic development through university-industry partnerships. Bocko earned his Ph.D. in Physics from the University of Rochester where he is currently the William F. May Professor of Engineering and Applied Sciences.

Bocko is a long-term member and former Chair of the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, and he is the Chair of the newly formed Sound Arts and Engineering Department, which spans the UR's Hajim School of Engineering and Applied Science and the Eastman School of Music.

His research has spanned multiple areas, including sensors, superconducting electronics, quantum computing, and the quantum limits of weak force detection, and electroacoustics. Bocko has taught courses on semiconductor devices, circuits and systems, audio signal processing, and acoustics. He is a life-member of the Audio Engineering Society.